Relay Game : Boomerang

Approach

Context

Students have to encourage members of their multiage team in an original way.

Goal of the game

Complete a lap as quickly as possible: be the first player to return to his starting position without dropping the ball.

How to play the game

1. The teams are placed in single files.
2. The person leading the game gives a ball to the first player of each team.
3. At the starting signal, the first player gives the ball to the second, by passing it over his head. The second player gives the ball to the third by passing it between his legs and so on until the last player is reached and who must then run to the front and start again.
4. The game ends when the first players have returned to their starting position.
5. Tell us about your experience. Don't forget to take a picture of the activity and send it to info@gardescolaire.org if you want it!

Variations

- Put more balls (2-3) in play.
- Use objects of various sizes and shapes.
